Cavite Celebrates World Malaria Day 2025

In line with the global observance of World Malaria Day, the Office of the Provincial Health Officer (OPHO) spearheaded a province-wide celebration held on April 28, 2025, at the Cavite Collaboration Center for Public Health in Trece Martires City. The event gathered medical practitioners from various public and private hospitals, as well as Rural Health Units (RHUs) across the province, to reinforce the importance of malaria prevention and control.

The program officially commenced with a warm welcome from Dr. Nelson Soriano, Provincial Health Officer I, who expressed his gratitude for the active participation of healthcare professionals in the fight against vector-borne diseases. He emphasized the significance of collaborative efforts in sustaining a malaria-free Cavite.

The lecture proper opened with a presentation from Mr. Jommel Mojica, Nurse V – Department of Health who delivered the latest updates on vector-borne diseases, including surveillance and control strategies. This was followed by an insightful discussion from Mr. Raffy MacDonald, Nurse II - OPHO on the 1-3-5 Strategy—an effective approach for timely reporting and response to malaria cases within one, three, and five days, respectively.

The event concluded with closing message from Dr. Armand Dotollo, who commended the dedication of the healthcare community and encouraged continuous vigilance and community engagement in the prevention of malaria. (OPIO)

WHICH CRYPTOCURRENCY CAN BE STABLE COIN?

The current global situation is extremely critical. Most countries have been affected by U.S. President Mr. Trump's increased tariffs, and there is a high possibility of transitioning from a tariffs war to a currency war. If this issue remains unresolved, we could even face the risk of military conflict.

June marks the maturity of the $6.5 trillion National Debt of the United States. The U.S. is exploring ways to manage this substantial national debt through cryptocurrencies. Introduced on February 4, 2025, the GENIUS ACT aims to provide much-needed regulatory clarity for stablecoin issuers and investors. Stablecoins—cryptocurrency tokens pegged to the value of traditional fiat currencies like the U.S. dollar—are already widely used in both the cryptocurrency economy and traditional financial markets. However, despite their increasing adoption, stablecoins exist within a vague regulatory environment, causing uncertainty for businesses and consumers alike.

Recently, Dr. Zheng Liang Guo, a political scientist with a Ph.D. from Yale University and originally from Taiwan China, pointed out that Bitcoin's market capitalization is only $1 trillion and that it is unstable. In comparison, the combined market cap of USDC and USDT is merely $230 billion. None of these cryptocurrencies can adequately meet the needs posed by the U.S. National Debt.

If Pi does not evolve into a stablecoin by June, it is unlikely that any existing cryptocurrency will be able to act as a stablecoin to address the U.S. National Debt default in June this year. This could lead to a catastrophic crisis in the capital markets.

Dr. Guo stated that the Federal Reserve has not recognized Bitcoin, USDT, or USDC as viable stablecoin solutions for the U.S. national debt crisis because Bitcoin is not stable and USDT or USDC has no enough capitalization. It seems that the U.S. government is attempting to manage its national debt through cryptocurrencies, but currently, no existing cryptocurrency is capable of effectively addressing this crisis. In my opinion, only Pi has the potential to take on this task.

The current global situation has placed significant responsibilities on us. In order to cover US National debt using the GCV price, it would need over 200 million Pi. At present, the total available Pi is approximately $1.8 billion. Additionally, a significant amount of Pi will soon be automatically locked away for three years as it matures, since most of us have chosen to lock our Pi for either 100% or 90% for that duration. If pioneers do not lock their Pi, the mining rate will be considerably slow. When they decide to lock their Pi, they will only have the option to do so at the same rate and terms as before. The total available supply of Pi is expected to reach around 2 billion by June 2025. Of this amount, 10% could be allocated to address the US national debt. This leaves us with 1.8 billion Pi available for global circulation. Currently, our main objective is to demonstrate that Pi can maintain stability in the exchange market, as evidenced by the GCV.

Furthermore, CT will implement a stricter migration policy. Currently, only the Pi community has the potential to stabilize the Pi coin price in the exchange market. The Pi GCV is supported by the community, which has generated more than 6 million GCV data points over nearly three years. Now, we must unite to help the exchange market demonstrate that the coin can be stable at GCV. Of course, to be recognized as a stablecoin, there are additional requirements and conditions. I believe it is the responsibility of CT to address these aspects and I believe CT have the ability to do it, while we, as pioneers, must focus on the GCV value and price. Both pioneers and CT are necessary for achieving stablecoin status.

Historically, military conflicts have often emerged from unresolved economic, trade, and currency challenges. The United States currently finds itself in a difficult situation. This problem is not exclusive to America; many other countries are also facing struggles, marked by rising prices and high unemployment rates. All of this underscores the urgent need for a stablecoin to help address issues, particularly those related to the U.S. national debt.

We should aspire to noble ideals and goals, not just for ourselves but also in order to navigate the global economic and financial crisis together. We must endure challenges and think beyond our individual interests. To achieve greatness, we need to maintain a broad perspective and cultivate wisdom. Once we define our goals, it's crucial to understand how to accomplish them. We must be inclusive, communicate respectfully, and uplift one another. By encouraging and supporting each other, we can channel our energy productively rather than engaging in internal conflicts.

I hope everyone in Pi Network community can concentrate on this historic moment. Currently, there is no other cryptocurrency that qualifies as a stablecoin to address the U.S. National debt maturity issues in June 2025 and beyond, and time is of the essence. However, Pi is ready; we just need the community to unite. Throughout this process, pioneers have specific roles, and CT has responsibilities regarding the application for stablecoin status. I believe Dr. Nicolas will address this issue at the 2025 Consensus event, where the main topic of discussion will be stablecoins and regulation. Both the pioneers and CT need to collaborate to ensure the success of GCV's stable Pi coin.

Let's set our goal of achieving a successful OM by June 28th, 2025. This goal is intended to motivate all community pioneers to work hard and unite for a stable coin in the exchange market and GCV adoption in ecosystem. Please note that this goal is not an announcement from CT. However, if we collectively put in the effort, it will help expedite the progress of OM for CT. It is important to remember that both CT and the pioneers are essential partners in this endeavor. We need to stand together and face challenges as one. (Doris Yin - Founder Global GCV Movement)

PH, NZ visiting forces pact highlights commitment to peace, stability

MANILA – National Security Adviser Eduardo Año on Friday hailed the Philippines' signing of the Status of Visiting Forces Agreement (SOVFA) with New Zealand on April 30, calling it an "important milestone" in the country's growing strategic and defense partnership.

"This landmark agreement demonstrates our shared commitment to a rules-based international order, regional peace and stability, and enhanced cooperation in both security and humanitarian domains," he said.

Año, also director general of the National Security Council (NSC), said the SOVFA reflects the mutual resolve of the Philippines and New Zealand in bolstering interoperability between their respective Armed Forces through joint training, capacity building, and collaboration on disaster response.

He said this is an important factor considering that the two countries are vulnerable to natural disasters as both are located within the Pacific Ring of Fire.

"The NSC commends the continuing efforts to strengthen our bilateral defense ties with New Zealand. This agreement is not directed against any one state, but rather stands as a clear affirmation that the Philippines and New Zealand are committed to international law, freedom of navigation, and the peaceful resolution of disputes," Año said.

He said the partnership is a step forward in strengthening the ability to respond to common challenges, whether natural disasters, transnational threats, or encroachments that undermine sovereign rights.

"By deepening our security cooperation with like-minded nations, such as New Zealand, the Philippines reaffirms its commitment to safeguarding national interests while promoting regional stability, resilience, and mutual respect among nations," he said.

The first round of talks for the Philippines and New Zealand SOVFA took place in Manila on Jan. 23.

"The first round of negotiations marked an important step in strengthening bilateral defense ties between the Philippines and New Zealand. A commitment to conclude a SOVFA was among the key outcomes agreed between Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos Jr. and New Zealand Prime Minister Christopher Luxon during the latter's visit to Manila in April 2024," the Department of National Defense (DND) earlier said.

The SOVFA will reinforce the memorandum of agreement between the DND and the AFP with the defense ministry of New Zealand concerning the defense cooperation, signed in 2017.

The DND said the successful conclusion of this agreement would be a significant milestone for the overall bilateral relationship between the Philippines and New Zealand, which will mark 60 years of diplomatic ties in 2026. (PNA)

THAILAND'S 77 PROVINCES IGNITE THE GCV 314159 MOVEMENT: A NATION UNITES FOR A DIGITAL FUTURE

Bangkok, Thailand — May 2, 2025 — In a bold and unified step toward a decentralized economic revolution, Thailand has officially mobilized all 77 provinces in support of the GCV 314159 USD, a major milestone to achieve global consensus value.

Led by the Pi Network's dynamic Thai leadership and inspired by the global movement, the country is making headlines as it pushes to build a robust and sustainable GCV ecosystem across the nation.

"Thailand, we are ready to create an ecosystem for all 77 provinces to achieve the GCV 314159$ target. It must be achieved soon," declared Mr. Phupanthong Chishomphu, Thailand's Ecosystem Development Ambassador. "Thank you, Lumari, for creating light for us to see a clear goal."

This announcement follows the powerful address given by Lumari, Executive Director and Committee Chair of the GCV Core Team, and Head GCV Ambassador for the Philippines, who recently guest-starred at the Thailand GCV community conference to rally support, unify strategy, and inspire action.

"We are not waiting for change — we are the change," Lumari said during her keynote. "Pi is real. GCV is real. And history is being written by us."

The country's rapid GCV development has been galvanized by the tireless leadership of three key ambassadors:

Ms. Rung Arun Maneechot, Head GCV Ambassador for Thailand — "Her leadership has been a shining light for this community."

Mr. Phupanthong Chishomphu, Ecosystem Development Ambassador — "His passion for growth is building strong foundations for our future."

Mr. Banjong Wongnarong, GCV Education

Ambassador — "His tireless efforts to educate and empower pioneers are priceless gifts to our movement."

Together, these leaders are spearheading Thailand's transformation into a fully functioning GCV economy — one province at a time.

Lumari outlined a crucial four-step strategy that is now driving the movement in Thailand and beyond:

Establish GCV in the Market through Active Participation

Buy Pi at exchange using extra funds.

Never sell Pi — just hold it.

Create real market demand and price stability.

"If we don't set the value, others will. We must take control of our future."

Build and Expand the Pi Ecosystem

Merchants must register and accept Pi (even partial payments).

Pioneers must support these merchants.

Ambassadors should actively onboard new businesses daily.

"Every merchant who accepts Pi, every pioneer who spends Pi — you are breathing life into our new economy."

Promote Bartering and Use of Partial Pi Payments

Encourage partial Pi payments (30%, 50%, 70%).

Enable direct bartering with Pi.

Showcase real-world Pi utility.

"Every Pi transaction proves to the world that Pi is real, usable, and valuable."

Amplify Our Voice Through Social Media

Share and repost visionary content and articles, especially from leaders like Ms. Doris.

Stay consistent — one voice, one vision.

Spread awareness globally.

"Social media is our battlefield. Let's flood it with the truth about Pi and GCV!"

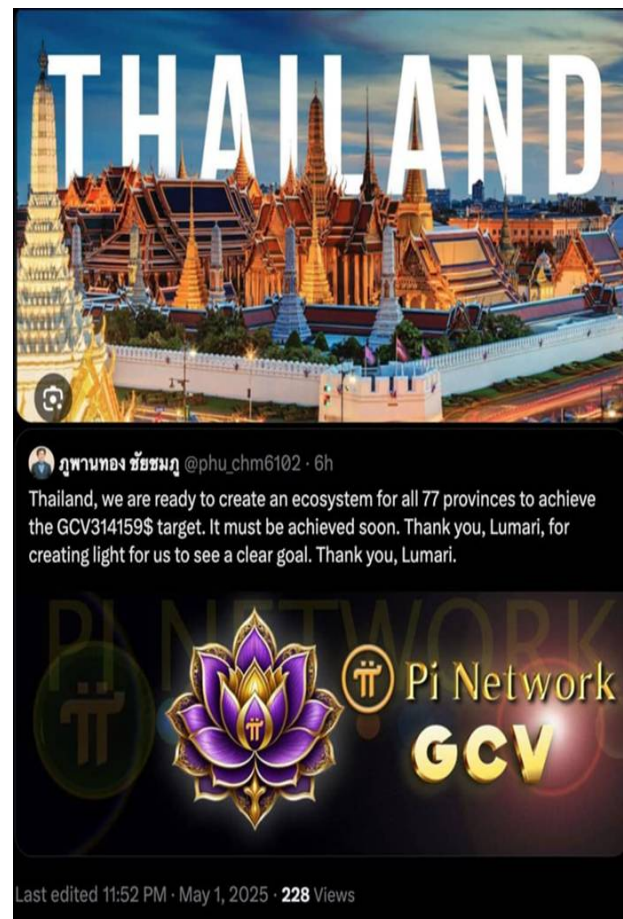

Thailand now stands as a regional leader demonstrating that bold vision and community unity can create massive economic and technological transformation.

As pioneers across provinces take concrete action — onboarding merchants, promoting GCV values, engaging in barter, and amplifying their voices online — Thailand is proving that the dream of Pi is no longer in the distant future. It is being built today.

"Here were the pioneers who dared to believe. Here were the builders of a new world. Here was the Thailand GCV community that rose together — and changed history."

Thailand has spoken. GCV 314159 is not just a target — it is a declaration. A revolution. And it has already begun.

PI NETWORK NEWS: GCV STRATEGIC DIRECTION IN THE COMING TIME

Jojo

Dear Global Pioneers and G C V Ambassadors,

Inspired by the heartfelt and sharp message from Ms. Doris Yin at the Global Pioneers Conference on April 20, 2025, we are more aware than ever that the GCV movement is not merely a dream, but a strategic revolution in human economic history. The saying "The sharpness of a sword comes from grinding, the fragrance of plum blossoms comes from the bitter cold" reminds us that our journey toward financial freedom through Pi will not be easy, but it will be worth it.

As we enter the next phase after the launch of the Open Network, all GCV communities must immediately focus on six key strategic tasks to ensure we maintain momentum and move closer to launching the Open Mainnet with the GCV standard: 1 Pi = 314,159 USD.

SIX STRATEGIC TASKS FOR THE NEXT GCV PHASE

Continue Organizing Global GCV Conferences and Campaigns

Monthly Global GCV Conferences must be maintained to strengthen connections between national and regional GCV teams. At each event, we should:

- * Share updates on GCV merchant ecosystems.
- * Report progress on transactions with GCV pricing.
- * Encourage new pioneers and merchants to join and believe in GCV.

This is a golden opportunity to educate, unify voices, and enhance credibility with the global community.

Strengthen Community Education with Official GCV Training Materials

Many pioneers still do not understand the economic theory behind Pi's value or how to defend GCV on exchanges. We must:

* Urgently deploy the GCV Ambassador Training Module for all countries.

* Promote Ms. Doris Yin's Pioneer's Handbook as an essential guide.

* Open Telegram/Zoom training sessions weekly for new GCV ambassadors.

This task is to arm our warriors with knowledge—the most powerful weapon against doubt and misinformation.

Promote the GCV Ecosystem Model with Proof-of-Transaction

The most persuasive proof of Pi's GCV value is real transaction records. Therefore, GCV communities in every country must:

* Encourage merchants to offer products/services with full or partial GCV pricing.

* Record and publish valid blockchain-based GCV transactions.

* Build national GCV Merchant Maps and regularly update them.

Proof speaks louder than theory. Let our actions silence every rumor.

Reduce Low-Price Pi Supply in the Exchange Market
The current reality is painful: Pi trades at $0.60 due to low-price selling. This damages GCV's value perception. To change this, we need:

* Pioneers to refuse to sell Pi at low prices.

* Organize GCV Buyback Campaigns in each country.

* Guide pioneers to hold and use Pi in GCV ecosystems instead of selling.

Each pioneer is a shield protecting Pi's value. Let us defend it together.

Create Public Communication Channels to Counter False Narratives

We must actively combat misinformation and malicious attacks by:

* Writing articles and creating videos to clarify GCV principles.

* Translating and sharing Ms. Doris Yin's speeches and official documents.

* Using hashtags like #GCVNow #GCV314159 #PiMovement on social media.

Silence allows lies to spread. Truth needs to be repeated louder.

Prepare a Declaration of Intent for the Open Mainnet Phase

We must show the world that GCV is not just an idea, but a unified action. Therefore:

* All national GCV leaders should sign a Joint Statement for GCV at OM.

* Set a goal to reach 10 million valid GCV transactions by OM.

* Declare to the Pi Core Team and global pioneers our readiness to lead the new economy.

This declaration is our contract to the future. It must be serious, visionary, and powerful.

FINAL MESSAGE

As Ms. Doris Yin emphasized: "This is not just a price discussion—it's a civil economic revolution."

If we do nothing, the price of Pi will remain at $0.60. But if we work together, we can make history.

The GCV sword is being sharpened.

The GCV plum blossoms will bloom.

Let's walk together on this righteous path until GCV becomes the global benchmark for Pi's value.

For the future of Pi.

For the dignity of pioneers.

For the right to build our own economy. (JoJo – Assistant Executive Director and Assistant Committee Chair, Global GCV Core Team)

PMCJ To Meralco: No More Room for Exemptions; Time for Accountability

Quezon City, Philippines — The Department of Energy (DOE) revoked its confirmation of exemption for the 1,200-megawatt (MW) coal project in Atimonan, Quezon. It confirmed that the project's Acknowledgement of Non-Coverage from the 2020 coal moratorium has been recalled for further review. This followed a statement by MGen President and Chief Executive Officer Emmanuel Rubio that they have confirmation of MGen's moratorium exemption in its Atimonan, Quezon and Toledo, Cebu coal projects.

According to Ian Rivera, National Coordinator of the Philippine Movement for Climate Justice (PMCJ), these projects should not be exempted from the coal moratorium as doing so undermines the very principle of why the moratorium exists.

"The 2020 moratorium covers 'greenfield' coal plants, which only excludes existing coal plants with firm expansion plans, approved permits from LGU and local environmental boards, and 'committed' projects. None of these exemptions should apply to the planned Atimonan Power Station," Rivera added.

In 2021, Meralco abandoned plans of constructing a coal-fired power plant in Subic, Zambales, announcing that it is moving away from coal. This is considered as the first pressure point for Meralco to cancel its proposed plants in Quezon because a top bank executive said they pulled out funding for Subic and Atimonan.

The planned coal project was earlier repurposed into a fossil gas plant that uses liquefied natural gas (LNG) instead of coal. When this did not work out, MGen reverted its plans to coal and has been waiting for the Acknowledgement of Non-Coverage of the moratorium ever since.

In late September 2024, the DOE's newest document of committed power projects in Luzon listed the proposal under "natural gas," with "request to revert back the technology of the project to coal."

Atimonan residents have long resisted the planned coal project, staging protest actions and filing complaints over the environmental and construction violations of Atimonan One Energy (A1E), an MGen subsidiary and the coal company responsible for the project. In 2022, PMCJ, Kabataan para sa Kalikasan ng Atimonan (KAPAKANAN), and other allied organizations filed a case against A1E in the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court about the planned coal plant. A letter of opposition was also filed in 2023 when A1E planned to build an LNG plant in place of the coal plant.

"We remain firm in our opposition to the Atimonan coal project, which has burdened our communities for a decade. We reject any so-called 'transition' projects that lock us into a dirty energy state under the guise of 'cleaner' technologies. The shift to ammonia or gas is nothing but a false solution that cannot justify the ongoing destruction of ecosystems and the threats to people's health and livelihoods. We call for a genuine shift to renewable energy—not another delay masked as transition," said Father Warren Puno, Convenor of Quezon for Environment (QUEEN).

"These coal projects exacerbate the climate crisis, and they also directly destroy the communities they invade. The Masinloc Coal Plant, for example, displaced hundreds of families upon its construction and failed to provide proper and humane resettlement for those affected. These coal companies are parasites, leeching off the earth's resources and the people's lives," Rivera said.

As exemptions continue to justify the expansion of the coal portfolio in the country, communities and environmental groups continue to oppose these dirty energy projects. A case in point is the 73-MW Toledo expansion that has caused suffering to the host community due to its negative health, livelihood, and environmental impacts.

While the 73-MW Toledo expansion is exempt from the coal moratorium, people continue to oppose these dirty energy projects, especially as their community has been suffering the effects of existing coal plants.

"Coal plant expansions only expand the suffering they bring to the people in Toledo. These are communities that have already lost their homes and their work because of these dirty coal plants. Coal ash covers their shores and hangs in the very air they breathe. Their waterways are blocked and their flow reversed because of illegal reclamation to make way for the facilities required to sustain these coal plants. What they should be given is their lives, their environment, and their community back, not more coal," PMCJ Visayas Coordinator Estela Vasquez said.

MGen also expressed intentions of using ammonia as a viable alternative to coal, as it is used by developed countries, and co-fired with coal in their power plants. However, these are not without risks, and the emissions it lessens are essentially minuscule.

"Ammonia co-firing is not a clean alternative to coal. In fact, a study conducted in Japan found that it increases the amount of pollutants in the air," Rivera said. He further explained, "The planned use of fossil gas, which uses LNG as a transition fuel to cleaner sources, is also a fraudulent endeavor."

It falsely promotes fossil gas as cleaner than coal. It is not. It is more expensive and causes cardiorespiratory health problems in surrounding communities, as we have seen and documented in Batangas."

"The recent Meralco rate hike and its insistence on using dirty coal and fossil gas have shown its greed for profit at the expense of the environment and our communities. What we demand from these companies is a genuine shift to clean and safe renewable energy sources, not these false solutions marketed as breakthroughs in our race against climate catastrophe. Our planet, our country is burning and Meralco is lighting more matches," Rivera ended.

DOTr awaits Cathay Pacific explanation on ripped passport incident

MANILA – The Department of Transportation (DOTr), through the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB), has ordered Cathay Pacific to explain the alleged passport mishandling incident which led to the denial of boarding of a passenger at Mactan-Cebu International Airport last week.

Based on the CAB incident report, the 65-year-old passenger was supposed to board Flight CX948 bound for Dubai, United Arab Emirates on April 24.

However, during the check-in process, the passenger's passport was allegedly torn while being handled by the airline staff, rendering it invalid for boarding.

The passenger complained that the airline staff did not provide any explanation or immediate assistance, and just continued to process other passengers.

Cathay Pacific's explanation was due Thursday.

Transportation Secretary Vince Dizon directed all airlines to ensure that no intentional tampering of passports occurs at airports and reminded personnel to exercise their authority responsibly and respectfully when verifying the validity of travel documents.

On the other hand, the New NAIA Infra Corp. management said passengers at Ninoy Aquino

International Airport are no longer required to show their passports at the entrance gates.

All security personnel have been instructed not to touch passports during terminal entry and security verification. A valid identification card or travel document will do, to be held only by the passenger.

Passport inspection will be handled by the airline staff at check-in counters, by immigration officers, and by airline personnel at the boarding gates. (PR/PNA)

Medical benefits

In a statement, TRABAHO party-list vowed to address the challenges affecting the workers' health brought by climate change.

T R A B A H O spokesperson Atty. Mitchell-David L. Espiritu noted the absence of strong national regulations adapting to the unprecedented rise in the country's heat index levels.

The group said it would push for the improvement of medical benefits and health insurance coverage for workers.

This includes access to preventive care, regular health screenings, and comprehensive health insurance plans that cover heat-related illnesses.

"Non-wage benefits and protections are essential to mitigate the financial burdens of medical expenses and to ensure timely medical attention for affected workers," said Espiritu. (Llanesca Panti/Mariel Celine Serquiña/ LDF, GMA Integrated News)

His commitment to public service led him to serve as mayor of his Kalibo hometown, the provincial capital of Aklan, during the administration of the late President Corazon Aquino.

Dayang's caretaker, Marjorie Yap, said that around 9 a.m. on Tuesday, two unidentified men wearing bonnets were seen on a motorcycle near Dayang's residence, seemingly observing the house, suggesting that the attack was premeditated.

Police are currently investigating the incident and reviewing CCTV footages from the area to identify the suspects, who fled the scene on a motorcycle.

The motive behind the murder remains unclear currently, and authorities are pursuing all possible leads.

The death of Dayang represents a significant loss to the Philippine media and political landscape. His legacy of leadership, dedication to journalism, and public service will be remembered for generations to come. The nation mourns the passing of this remarkable individual.

In a subsequent telephone interview, PAPI President Nelson S. Santos declared: "We strongly condemn this killing, and we are calling for justice. HINDI niya deserved ang cruel and senseless end."

Santos said PAPI earnestly urges the Presidential Task Force on Media Security (PTFOMS) and its partner authorities to promptly investigate the Dayang case, identify the killers and the brains behind the murder, and bring them to justice.

"We join the entire media community in demanding justice for our Chairman Emeritus and his family. We also extend our deepest condolences to his family and loved ones," Santos stressed.

envisioned as a model of sustainable living—where open spaces, green architecture, and a balanced mix of residential communities, commercial hubs, schools, and hospitals seamlessly coexist.
The Lakeside District will soon undergo revitalization, further enhancing its role as a vibrant civic center. Hospitals like Healthway QualiMed round out its live-work-play-heal philosophy.
Broadfield: The South's first business campus
Just a short drive away in Biñan, Laguna, is Broadfield—a 63-hectare estate being positioned as the South's first business campus. Flanked by De La Salle University Laguna and Laguna Technopark, Broadfield blends professional and academic worlds in a walkable, connected environment. With the upcoming opening of South Boulevard in 2025, plus easy access to CALAX, Broadfield is becoming even more connected to Metro Manila—and beyond.
Aéra: Redefining suburban living in Cavite
Aéra, a nearly 1,000-hectare estate in Carmona, Cavite, is redefining suburban living. Developed in partnership with the Kuok Group, Aéra offers a mix of residential and leisure experiences in a master-planned setting designed to appeal to a younger, more mobile demographic looking for balance—nature, work, and lifestyle—all within reach of Metro Manila.
Southmont: A playground for active families
Down south in Silang and Dasmariñas lies Southmont, a joint venture with Cathay Land that is quickly emerging as a magnet for families and professionals seeking a modern suburban lifestyle. The estate is a playground for outdoor enthusiasts, with bike trails and sports facilities, while its proximity to educational institutions like the soon-to-rise Chiang Kai Shek College campus adds long-term value for residents.
As demand continues to spread outward from Metro Manila, Ayala Land's master-planned communities are serving as blueprints for inclusive and sustainable growth. What once seemed like a daring move to “go south” has now become a model of success, demonstrating the power of strategic foresight, patience, and deep commitment to community development.

Bong Go, Marcoleta, at Tulfo Nanguna sa Kalye Survey ng mga Motorista at Mamimili sa Palengke

Nanguna sina Senator Bong Go, Rep. Rodante Marcoleta, at broadcaster Erwin Tulfo sa isang kalye survey na isinagawa ng Publishers Association of the Philippines, Inc. (PAPI) mula Abril 1 hanggang 20, 2025.

Ayon sa survey, tinanong ang 1,100 katao mula sa iba't ibang bahagi ng bansa, kabilang ang mga motorista, pasahero ng jeep at bus, at mamimili sa mga pampublikong palengke.

Layunin nitong kunin ang pulso ng masa ukol sa nalalapit na halalan para sa Senado.

Lumabas sa resulta na malaki pa rin ang tiwala ng publiko sa mga kilalang pangalan mula sa politika at media. Narito ang nangungunang mga senatorial bet batay sa porsyento ng boto:

1. Christopher Lawrence "Bong" Go
2. Rodante D. Marcoleta

Ayala Land's Southern charm: How four estates are transforming Laguna and Cavite

Years ago, when Ayala Land Inc. (ALI) set its sights south of Metro Manila, the move was seen by some as ambitious—risky, even. But today, that bold bet has blossomed into a powerful growth story that is quietly reshaping the landscape of Southern Luzon.

From the lush, green fields of Laguna to the rising suburban communities in Cavite, Ayala Land's four estates—Nuvali, Broadfield, Aéra, and Southmont—are proving that thoughtful master planning can create not just places, but entire ecosystems for living, learning, working, and thriving.

Together, these estates cover more than 4,500 hectares—each playing a distinct role in transforming what was once farmland and open fields into dynamic economic and lifestyle centers. But more than just size, it's the vision behind them that's changing the game.

Nuvali: ALI's flagship eco-city

At the core of ALI's southern strategy is Nuvali, a 2,400-hectare eco-city in Sta. Rosa, Laguna. Developed from the ground up, Nuvali was never intended to be just another township. It was

Ayon sa PAPI, bagamat nagbibigay ito ng paunang pananaw, maaaring magbago pa ang boto ng taumbayan sa pagdating ng opisyal na kampanya, debate, at endorsements. Ginawa ang survey sa pamamagitan ng random na panayam sa mga transport terminal at palengke upang mas mapakinggan ang boses ng mga karaniwang mamamayan na madalas hindi naisasaalang-alang sa mga tradisyonal na survey.

Inaasahan ng mga tagamasid na magbabago pa ang mga numero habang umiinit ang laban sa Senado.

Kiko, Bam bag endorsements of mayors from Cavite, Laguna

Several mayors of vote-rich provinces Cavite and Laguna have endorsed the 2025 Senate comeback bid of former senators Francis "Kiko" Pangilinan and Paolo Benigno "Bam" Aquino IV, with two weeks to go before the May 12 elections.

Pangilinan secured the endorsement of 15 Laguna mayors during his meeting with the League of Municipalities of Laguna held at the Pila Municipal Hall on Tuesday, April 29. The backing of two other mayors were received by Pangilinan during separate courtesy visits.

"We are very grateful for the support we got in Laguna. This is a huge help, especially that there are a few days to go before the elections," he said.

"They can be sure that we will work on strengthening the agricultural sector of Laguna," he added.

Aquino received the endorsement of three Cavite mayors on Wednesday, April 30.

"I am thankful for the endorsement, and I vow to work on increasing the budget for Free College Education Law so more students can benefit from it, including Cavite residents, en route to them having enough job opportunities," Aquino said.

Laguna has 2.1 million voters while Cavite has 2.4 million voters based on Commission on Elections records.

Workers welfare

Meanwhile, several independent senatorial candidates made the rounds in the provinces as they continued their Eleksyon 2025 campaign.

Ariel Querubin urged factory workers and residents of South Cotabato to vote for leaders who will address the concerns of the people.

"Mamili ng iboboto at susuportahan na kandidato na nagpakita talaga ng pagmamahal sa bayan natin at malasakit sa taumbayan. Yung totoo talaga," Querubin said during his campaign on Tuesday.
