OPPESM honors employment partners at 2025 Provincial Stakeholders' Forum

recruitment specialists, local government units (LGUs), national government agencies (NGAs), and employment partners for a day of thanksgiving and camaraderie on December 15 at the New Provincial Government Center in Trece Martires City. The activity, dubbed "Collaborative Engagement: 2025 Provincial Stakeholders' Forum Towards Increased Employment Opportunities for a Progressive and Sustainable Tomorrow," capped a year of fruitful collaboration in expanding job opportunities and promoting meaningful employment for Caviteños.

Provincial Administrator Engr. Gilbert Gandia conveyed the provincial government's message of gratitude on behalf of Governor Abeng Remulla, underscoring the importance of sustained partnerships in advancing employment generation across the province. SK Provincial Federation President Chelsea Jillian Sarno also joined the event as one of OPPESM's key partners in rolling out employment programs in various LGUs, particularly those targeting the youth sector.

Imus City Provincial Administrator Lauro Monzon delivered a message on behalf of Imus City Mayor Alex Advincula, emphasizing that employment generation is a shared responsibility among government, the private sector, and the community. As a testament to this commitment, OPPESM recognized the City Government of Imus as the LGU Champion for Employment Facilitation.

Filipinas set sights on coming big battles

The Philippine women's national football team, the newly crowned Southeast Asian (SEA) Games champion, is setting its sights on the Asian Football Confederation (AFC) Asian Cup set for March next year in Australia.

The Asian Cup serves as a pathway to the 2027 FIFA Women's World Cup in Brazil.

"We'll enjoy this one, we have to enjoy this one because it's been a long time coming for this country to win the SEA Games. We'll rest a little bit and then we have to get ready for the Asian Cup," coach Mark Torcaso said in a news release Friday.

The Filipinas made history after a stunning 6-5 victory over eight-time champion Vietnam on Thursday.

Torcaso is optimistic that the Filipinas will perform well in their next tournament.

Only the Core Team has that information. No ambassador, no researcher, no community leader can announce or predict it.

Recently, some pioneers asked how GCV appears on the blockchain. Independent researcher Mr. Mario has been submitting audit observations to me regularly, and I ask Mr. Jojo to analyze and summarize those findings for understanding purposes. However, this is not official Core Team public information.

Because of this, I specifically requested that not all technical details be disclosed. I do not want pioneers to shift their focus to codes, speculation, or hidden meanings. That is not our mission.

Our focus should always be building:

building the ecosystem
building real use cases

building trust with merchants, institutions, and communities

Please understand:

This type of information requires professional expertise. Not everyone can access it, interpret it correctly, or explain it responsibly. Misinterpretation creates rumors, fear, and confusion.

That is why I ask pioneers to:

Read only official Core Team and GCV Core Team

Dear Pioneers,
I would like to clarify several important points to avoid misunderstanding and unnecessary anxiety in the community.

First, regarding questions such as "how many times Open Mainnet will be launched" — the honest answer is simple: we don't know.

Clarification to Global Pioneers

information

Do not spread unverified news or rumors
Stop searching endlessly for "inside news"
Doing so only creates anxiety.
What pioneers truly need to do is very simple:
Take good care of yourselves
Stay patient
Trust the Core Team and the GCV Core Team

Focus on contribution, not speculation

Everything in this ecosystem is connected. Stability comes from trust, discipline, and long-term thinking — not from chasing unofficial information.

Thank you for your understanding, maturity, and responsibility toward Pi Network.

Let us move forward calmly and wisely, together.

"WHY PI MUST CREATE 'MERCHANT VALUE DEFENDERS': How Merchants Become the First Line of Economic Stability in the GCV Era."

In every successful monetary system, there exists an invisible but decisive force that protects value long before regulators, algorithms, or institutions step in: Merchants.

Currencies survive not because traders speculate on them, but because merchants defend their value through daily pricing discipline.

Pi Network has reached a critical inflection point:

* Community Consensus has been established

* Economic Consensus is emerging

* Price Memory is forming

* GCV is transitioning from belief to lived reality

The next essential pillar is the rise of Merchant Value Defenders (MVDs) — merchants who:

* price consistently in Pi
* refuse undervaluation
* repeat GCV-aligned transactions

* anchor real-world economic expectations

This report explains:

* why merchants are the true guardians of value
* how Merchant Value Defenders stabilize Pi before Open Mainnet

* why no algorithm can replace merchant behavior
* how GCV relies on merchant discipline

* how Pi Network can scale a global merchant defense layer

* and why this mechanism is stronger than speculation, regulation, or code

The conclusion:

Currencies are protected by behavior, not belief.

In Pi's economy, merchants are the guardians of GCV.

1. INTRODUCTION:
WHY MERCHANTS — NOT TRADERS — DECIDE THE FATE OF A CURRENCY

History offers a consistent lesson:

- * Traders create volatility
- * Speculators create bubbles
- * Algorithms create efficiency

But merchants create stability.

From ancient marketplaces to modern economies:

- * bread prices
- * service rates
- * rental costs
- * daily necessities

These are set by merchants — and remembered by society. Pi Network is no different.

If Pi is to become a real currency, its value must be defended where it matters most: in commerce.

2. WHAT IS A "MERCHANT VALUE DEFENDER"?

A Merchant Value Defender (MVD) is a merchant who:

- * accepts Pi voluntarily
- * prices goods/services consistently
- * aligns pricing with GCV expectations
- * resists panic discounting

- * refuses to accept exploitative underpricing
- * repeats transactions at stable value

MVDs do not speculate. They normalize.

They do not argue about price.

They teach it through repetition.

3. WHY ECONOMIC CONSENSUS DEPENDS ON MERCHANTS

Economic Consensus is not formed in chats, forums, or whitepapers.

It is formed when:

- * customers see stable prices
- * repeated transactions confirm expectations

- * businesses behave predictably

Merchants are uniquely positioned to:

- * enforce price memory
- * create behavioral norms
- * resist irrational market pressure

Without merchants, GCV cannot become real.

4. WHY ALGORITHMS CANNOT DEFEND VALUE ALONE

Modern crypto systems rely heavily on:

- * oracles
- * liquidity algorithms
- * automated stabilization mechanisms

But these systems fail when:

- * human behavior panics
- * trust evaporates
- * speculation overwhelms usage

No algorithm can stop a merchant from:

- * underpricing
- * panic selling
- * breaking pricing discipline

Only economic culture can do that.

Merchant Value Defenders create this culture.

5. THE FIVE ROLES OF MERCHANT VALUE DEFENDERS

Jojo

5.1 Role 1 — Anchoring Price Memory

Each repeated, consistent price reinforces:

"This is what Pi is worth." Price memory becomes behavioral.

5.2 Role 2 — Blocking Undervaluation

When merchants refuse to sell below fair value:

- * exploitative buyers retreat
- * speculative dumping slows
- * community confidence increases

This is grassroots stabilization.

5.3 Role 3 — Teaching Customers Value Through Experience

A customer does not need to understand GCV.

They only need to experience:

- * stable pricing
- * fair exchange
- * repeatable outcomes

Merchants teach value silently.

5.4 Role 4 — Providing Transaction Evidence

Each merchant transaction:

- * creates economic records
- * builds legitimacy

JEREMIAH M. OPINIANO

MAKATI CITY — The Illegal recruitment of prospective and current overseas Filipino workers (OFWs) rose using Facebook and TikTok pages, dwarfing the Department of Migrant Workers' efforts to curb all sorts of IR activities.

In DMW's fourth full year of operation, data from 2022 to November 2025 show that 170,140 pages on Facebook and TikTok were shut down for conducting illegal recruitment activities such as online direct hiring and charging fees.

From only 614 pages in 2022, the taken-down pages rose to 85,538 as of this November. Detected social media pages rose especially when DMW forged partnerships with Facebook owners Meta and TikTok to clamp down on these IR agents.

These IR agents, whether based in the Philippines or in host countries, do not possess valid licenses to recruit coming from the DMW.

Illegal recruitment activities, especially when affecting at least three workers, are outlawed by the Migrant Workers and Overseas Filipinos Act of 1995 (or Republic Act 8042, amended into RA 10022).

DMW, created through Republic Act 11649, runs current-day anti-illegal recruitment activities that were the task of the now-defunct Philippine Overseas Employment Administration (POEA) from 1982 to 2021.

But illegal recruitment has persisted even before the enactment of the 1974 Labor Code of the Philippines, through Presidential Decree 442, and when the Overseas Employment Development Board (OEDB) got mandated to regulate overseas employment from 1975 to 1981.

Corollary to the rise of taken-down social media pages was the rise of illegal recruitment cases handled by the

* strengthens price history
* supports future institutional recognition
These are real-world proofs, not charts.
5.5 Role 5 — Preparing the Economy for PiDEX
A DEX launched into an economy without merchant discipline invites chaos.
Merchant Value Defenders create:
* price floors
* behavioral expectations
* resistance to panic
This makes PiDEX safe to activate later.

6. HOW GCV AND MERCHANT VALUE DEFENDERS WORK TOGETHER
GCV provides:
* a valuation frame
* a shared reference
* a psychological anchor

Merchants provide:
* enforcement
* repetition
* normalization
GCV without merchants is abstract.

Merchants without GCV lack coordination.
Together, they form a self-reinforcing economic loop.

7. THE ROLE OF SPLIT PAYMENTS IN MERCHANT VALUE DEFENSE

The Part Pi – Part Fiat model:

- * lowers merchant risk
- * allows controlled exposure
- * preserves pricing discipline
- * prevents forced dumping

Split Payments allow merchants to:

- * defend value safely
- * participate early
- * scale gradually

This model is not weakness — it is strategic defense.

8. WHY PI WALLET DESIGN SUPPORTS MERCHANT DEFENSE

Wallet features subtly encourage merchant discipline:

- * transaction-focused UX
- * minimized speculative signals
- * token categorization by function
- * emphasis on utility over trading
- * historical transaction

visibility

This design aligns user behavior with merchant norms.

9. BUILDING A GLOBAL NETWORK OF MERCHANT VALUE DEFENDERS

Pi's advantage lies in scale:

- * millions of small merchants
- * local trust networks
- * cultural diversity
- * grassroots adoption

Value defense does not need central control.

It scales horizontally through participation.

10. WHAT HAPPENS WHEN MERCHANT DEFENSE IS STRONG

When Merchant Value Defenders are widespread:

- * users internalize value
- * underpricing becomes socially unacceptable
- * speculation weakens
- * price memory hardens

Economic Consensus locks in

At this stage, Pi becomes resilient.

11. WHAT HAPPENS IF MERCHANT DEFENSE IS WEAK

Without merchant

discipline:

- * panic discounting spreads
- * value collapses quickly
- * GCV loses credibility

* PiDEX becomes dangerous

* long-term adoption fails

History shows this repeatedly.

12. MERCHANT VALUE DEFENDERS VS. WHALES

Whales influence markets temporarily.

Merchants influence economies permanently.

A whale can move price.

A merchant moves behavior.

Behavior always wins in the long run.

13. MERCHANT DEFENSE AS A CULTURAL SHIFT

Merchant Value Defense is not enforcement.

It is culture:

- * pride in fair pricing
- * long-term thinking
- * protection of community value

* economic responsibility

This culture is Pi's greatest strength.

14. WHEN MERCHANT VALUE DEFENSE BECOMES INVISIBLE

Success is achieved when:

In Taiwan, for example, this president of the licensed agency Peridot International Resources said that Filipinos are "willing to pay" amounts ranging from P300,000 to P500,000 for salaries amounting to NT$1,000 monthly.

Illegal recruitment activities, Bracero adds, affect "not just the vulnerable sector (such as less-skilled workers) but also skilled workers and professionals."

Director Atty. Geraldine Marquez of DMW's Migrant Workers Protection Bureau (MWPB) said that the Philippines' anti-illegal recruitment and trafficking efforts are well in-place and respond to the realities of cyber-induced recruitment.

"Enhanced case handling has been there for a matter of time. Standardized protocols, unified digital case tracking systems, and strengthened capacities for cyber-enabled and cross-border trafficking ensure that (DMW's) processes match the realities of modern-day exploitation," Marquez said.

Given DMW's creation on December 30, 2021 by virtue of the signing of Republic Act 11649, the agency has released updated rules and regulations governing the recruitment employment of land-based OFWs in July 2023.

But Bracero scratches her head about dealing with fellow Filipinos allegedly acting as "scammers" and recruit compatriots abroad.

"Ma'am, it's okay," Bracero quotes some Filipinos abroad as saying. "It is just in the Philippines that (online recruiting) ain't legal. Thus, recruitment agencies face challenges always having to explain to these Filipino workers... and even to foreign employers."

Online illegal recruitment modus rises in DMW's fourth full year regulator DMW. From a total of 327 from 2022 to 2024, running-year figures show DMW handled 479 IR cases.

DMW also filled the year with anti-illegal recruitment (AIR) operations and surveillance activities, with some 992 of these surveillance activities happening over a 47-month period.

These AIR surveillance activities resulted in the closure of 91 establishments under the DMW era.

As to convictions, the DMW's first 47 months yielded only 37 convictions coming from local courts. These convictions included that of Alejandro Leveriza, Jr. last Nov. 29.

Leveriza (alias "Al") was nabbed by the National Bureau of Investigation in January 2009 for duping 15 job applicants of a million pesos through Shellisa Travel and Tours International. The travel agency advertised chambermaid jobs in Macau, the United Arab Emirates and other countries, and required a P40,000 "processing fee" from applicants.

The country also continues to be on its toes rescuing illegally-recruited and trafficked Filipinos working in cyber scam hubs in Cambodia, Lao People's Democratic Republic and Myanmar. This year alone, and covering the three countries, DMW assisted 2,021 victims —with 1,914 of them repatriated to the Philippines.

At a research and policy forum in Makati City, veteran recruitment sector leader Raquel Bracero reveals that fellow Filipinos abroad are the ones using TikTok and Facebook to directly hire Filipinos in host countries.

"They would say that [such online recruitment] is legal in the host country," Bracero said at a panel session.

* merchants no longer discuss value

* prices feel "normal"

* customers stop questioning

* Pi is treated as money

Invisibility is the sign of maturity.

15. CONCLUSION:

MERCHANTS ARE THE TRUE GUARDIANS OF THE PI ECONOMY

Pi's future will not be secured by:

* hype

* exchanges

* speculation

* algorithms

* regulation alone

It will be secured by:

"Merchants who defend value every day, one transaction at a time."

GCV gives direction.

Merchants give discipline.

Users give continuity.

Together, they form an economy that cannot be easily broken.

Pi does not rush because it understands:

A currency protected by its merchants is stronger than one protected by its code.

"We saw how disciplined our girls can be against good teams and I truly believe that we can do that against Australia or South Korea and Iran and I truly believe that we can do something special there as well and go to another World Cup," he said.

The Philippines has to finish in the Top 2 against host Australia, South Korea, and Iran in Group A to reach the quarterfinal round where the four winners will advance to the World Cup and the four losers will contest two other spots in the play-in matches.

"The most pleasing thing for me in this competition (SEA Games) was we showed that we've got a group of players here, both experienced and young players that are ready to fight for our country right from the start of the game to the end of the game, even penalty shootouts," Torcaso said.

Recto...

In his speech at National Security Summit 2025, Executive Secretary Recto said national security must be defined by the everyday issues that affect the lives of Filipino families.

"It is food that is affordable. Power that stays on. A job that pays enough. Truth in our newsfeeds. Trust in our institutions," he said. "Because security is more than the absence of a shooting war. It means the presence of opportunity," he added.

In line with this, the Executive Secretary commended the National Security Council (NSC) for aligning the National Security Strategy (NSS) 2024 with the Philippine Development Plan (PDP), which addresses every thread of Filipino life—from farmers facing climate uncertainty, to soldiers guarding frontiers, to teachers shaping young minds against disinformation.

To secure the Filipino people's future, the Executive Secretary highlighted that the Marcos Jr. administration is strengthening food security, expanding universal healthcare, and investing in quality education and workforce development.

"For our greatest asset—our greatest defense—is the empowered, enlightened, engaged and educated Filipino people," he said.

Restoring Public Trust
Executive Secretary Recto also stressed that weak governance and institutional challenges—including corruption, misuse of public funds, and lack of transparency—pose serious risks to national security.

"This is why we are pushing for good governance reforms—finally pursuing an anti-political dynasty bill, reforming the party list system, and giving public access to government expenditures," he said.

"For building stronger and more transparent institutions is the nation's sturdiest security defense," he added.

He also highlighted the administration's commitment to fiscal discipline and maintaining a disciplined national budget focused on quality spending to ensure that public funds are directed to programs that genuinely benefit the Filipino people.

To address multiple challenges the country is facing today, the Executive Secretary emphasized the need for strategic synergy across all sectors, including the uniformed forces, policy leaders, academics, civil society, industry, and local communities. He said that true national security requires "a government that moves as one, an economy that is strong and felt by every household, and a future defended by all." In closing, he urged all stakeholders to view the Summit as a renewed commitment—not just to protect the State, but to safeguard the hopes and dreams of every Filipino family.

hygiene, education through the Alternative Learning System (ALS), and livelihood and employment. Anchored on the belief that poverty is a matter of justice and human dignity, the foundation empowers individuals through nourishment, education, hygiene, and livelihood, helping restore their self-image, self-respect, and self-worth.

In line with this mission, Ms. Tapay spearheaded a Christmas event specially designed for the poor, reaching 450 beneficiaries as the holiday season approached. She shared that for her, the true meaning of Christmas is the "unconditional love of Christ," a love that must be shown through action rather than words alone. She emphasized that while expressions of love are easily spoken, they often fall short when it comes to concrete action, underscoring the need for genuine and selfless service.

One of the most meaningful highlights of the activity was the presence of former Kalinga beneficiaries who have since graduated from the program and returned to serve the foundation. These individuals shared their personal stories of transformation on how Kalinga helped them rebuild their lives and regain dignity. Their return served as a living testament to the foundation's impact, inspiring current beneficiaries who are now experiencing Kalinga's support through food, shelter, education, and livelihood opportunities, including ALS classes.

The Christmas outreach also reflected how Ms. Tapay extends kalinga, care, and compassion not only to the foundation's beneficiaries but also to her own employees. As an employer, she nurtures a culture of service that naturally flows outward. Together with her team, the activity was carried out not for recognition or publicity, but as an expression of faith and responsibility. According to Tapay, service becomes contagious when it is rooted in sincerity: "If you truly have the heart to serve, the people around you will do the same."

Believing that Christmas is truly for the poor, Ms. Tapay chose not to wait for others to initiate similar efforts. Instead, she led the activity herself, reflecting the foundation's commitment to making God's love visible through concrete actions not merely through spoken words.

Beyond the Christmas event, Ms. Tapay actively organizes year-round initiatives that cater to various sectors. Among these is the recently conducted Hospital on Wheels, a mobile medical mission that brought much-needed healthcare services to individuals requiring medical attention. These sustained efforts reinforce her commitment to the Arnold Janssen Kalinga Foundation's vision of holistic care and long-term transformation.

Through initiatives like this Christmas outreach, the Arnold Janssen Kalinga Foundation and Ms. Anna Donita S. Tapay continue to demonstrate that faith, action, can restore dignity, rebuild lives, and bring hope especially to those who need it most.

dumalo ang mga mananampalataya sa Misa de Gallo bilang bahagi ng kanilang panata at debosyon.

Matapos ang misa, mainit na tinanggap ng mga nagsimba ang tradisyunal na kakanin na nagsilbing pampainit at dagdag-saya sa madaling-araw na pagdiriwang.

Marami sa mga dumalo ang nagpahayag ng kanilang pasasalamat sa lokal na pamahalaan sa pagpapatuloy ng programang ito sa loob ng tatlong magkakasunod na taon. Para sa kanila, ang simpleng handog na puto bumbong at bibingka ay nagiging simbolo ng pagkakaisa, bayanihan, at diwa ng Pasko.

Sa kabuuan, ang sabayang pagdiriwang ng Misa de Gallo sa iba't ibang simbahan sa Imus ay patunay na ang Kapaskuhan sa lungsod ay hindi lamang selebrasyon, kundi isang buhay na tradisyong pinagyayaman ng pananampalataya, kultura, at malasakit sa kapwa.
